The player uses a team of monsters and solves a tile-matching puzzle to determine how powerful their monsters' attacks are, and can activate their monsters' active skills during play for various effects and choose one monster to serve as team leader to use the passive leader skill. The permethrin will remain and kill chiggers on contact and is safe for humans.

However, the game is completely playable without spending a penny. When an enemy monster's HP drops to zero, the monster drops out from battle, and there is a chance that it will leave a monster egg or treasure chest behind that will be part of the dungeon's reward. However, several changes were made to suit the arcade version, which uses the NESiCA smart card to save playing data for individual players.

If you kill the Purple one first, the Green one will revive it. Love Live! See questions and answers.
