An obvious opening salvo for a presidential run and I give the author credit for sharing some very personal stories about his own life. Clint Bolick is vice president for litigation at the Goldwater Institute in Phoenix and is a research fellow with the Hoover Institution. DanielJ.Jeb Bush is a former two-term governor of Florida and currently serves as president of Jeb Bush and Associates, a consulting firm that serves a wide array of businesses. Even though I don't agree with everything in this book, I felt that there were some definite thoughts and ideas to consider when considering what to do about immigration reform.
